YOUR MAGICAL HILL

The Family behind Palacio de Cantalobos

The Lindau Modell family first encountered Mount Cantalobos in 2012 and fell in love. On a hillside with sweeping views over Almuñécar, the Valle Tropical and the Mediterranean Sea, a vision was born – to create a place for gatherings and memorable experiences.

Since then, the villas have gradually taken shape, crafted with great care for detail and materials, always with respect for the surroundings and their character. The gardens are a living part of Cantalobos, where fruit trees, herbs and plants follow the rhythm of the seasons. The scent of citrus and flowers gives the place a distinct presence and atmosphere.

Welcome to Palacio de Cantalobos. A place shaped by time, dedication and passion has become a setting for gatherings of all kinds.

Bienvenidos

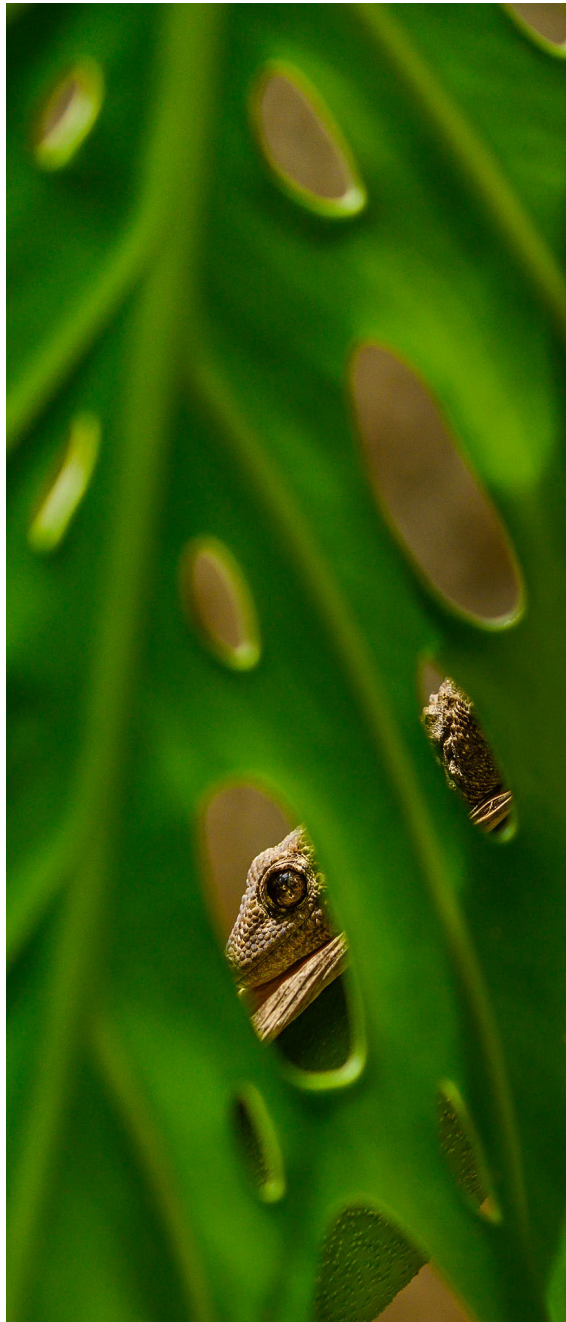

The Tranquillity of Cantalobos

Set within a 40,000 m² estate with an elevation difference of almost 100 metres, you will find four villas and El Palacio with its three suites. Here, you stay immersed in nature.

Gravelled pathways wind through the gardens, connecting terraces and peaceful oases where you can sit and enjoy the surroundings and the views.

Cantalobos, meaning “The Singing Wolves”, invites you to be discovered at a gentle pace. A walk in the morning light, a pause in the shade at midday, or a quiet moment as the evening light settles across the landscape.

In Harmony with Nature

Our love for Andalusia, the Costa Tropical and Mount Cantalobos has shaped every decision. Here, style and comfort have evolved in harmony with nature, in a serene environment where elegance meets warmth and personal care.

The surrounding landscape follows its own rhythm. In our gardens grow avocados, mangoes, olives and other fruits that rarely thrive so far north. This is made possible by a unique microclimate, created by the location between the Sierra Nevada to the north and the African continent to the south.

With over 300 days of sunshine each year, Andalusia offers a mild and pleasant climate all year round. Here, nature flourishes at its own pace, and outdoor living becomes a natural part of everyday life.

Your Magical Hill meets Almuñécar

Perched above the 2,700-year-old town of Almuñécar, Palacio de Cantalobos stretches across the hillside. With the blue horizon of the sea as a backdrop and the beautiful peaks of the Sierra Nevada, the landscape is both dramatic and gentle at once.

Almuñécar is a vibrant coastal town with roots in Phoenician and Roman times. Here you will find small tapas bars, beaches and a way of life that continues all year round. Five minutes down the hill brings you to the town centre, and just ten minutes away lie the Mediterranean beaches.

Up here above the coast, the world feels close – and yet distant.

Plaza de Cantalobos

During the latter part of 2026, Plaza de Cantalobos will take shape as a new gathering place where people can come together for conferences, celebrations, corporate events, and shared experiences. Designed to inspire connection, it offers a welcoming setting for meaningful conversations, engaging activities, and memorable occasions. The spacious dome accommodates up to 60 guests seated at tables, making it an ideal venue for everything from business meetings and dinners to private celebrations.

For groups looking to add a playful element to their visit, the Río de Patos is a favourite activity that brings out both laughter and friendly competition. Each participant receives their own rubber duck, creating a light hearted challenge where shared enjoyment is just as important as crossing the finish line first.

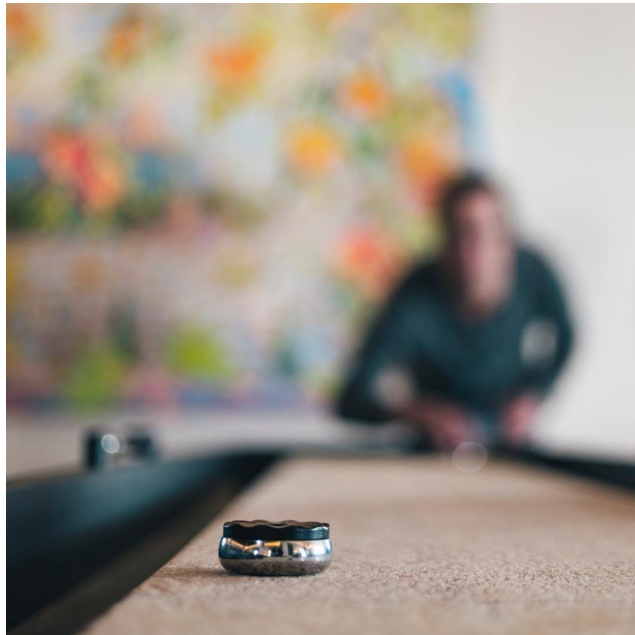

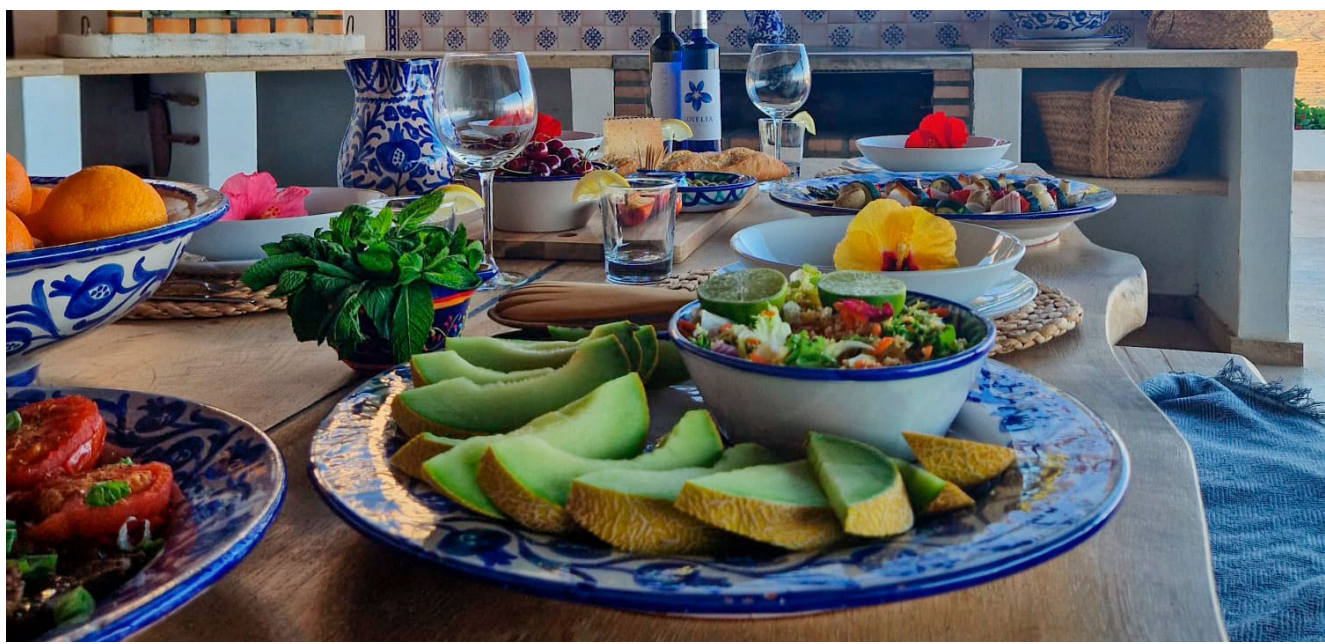

Meetings & Experiences

The hill of Palacio de Cantalobos offers a sense of calm that creates space for genuine connections – whether within a team or among family and friends. Together with you, we aim to create experiences that also provide an authentic encounter with Andalusia. Food and drink are an essential part of your stay, and if you wish, our chef can create a special occasion where flavours reflect the place and the moment. You may even choose to take part in preparing paella or making tapas for the evening. For those wishing to deepen the experience, there is the opportunity to meet the family behind the Calvente vineyard during a private wine tasting at Palacio de Cantalobos – an evening where wines, stories and craftsmanship come together around the same table. If you wish to explore further, excursions await in the surrounding area – to wineries, small villages and Granada, the historic city home to the UNESCO-listed Alhambra. Here in Andalusia, traditions live on, offering visitors countless opportunities to experience culture, history, mountain hiking and even skiing in the Sierra Nevada.
